Ex-Senator Hill Argues Against a Gold Bas Colorado's Governor Makes a Speech-The Bankers Charged With Causing Distrust.

By Telegraph to The Times. CHICAGO, Aug. 2.—(By the Associated Press.) The silver convention resumed its session this morning. Owing to the inadequacy of the rooms used yesterday it was decided to meet in Central Music Hall, but the agent stood at the door and refused to open it until ex-Senator Hill, ex-Congressman Symes and C. S. Thomas of Colorado guaraneed $200 per day rental. This done, the delegates flocked in.

President Thurman called the convenion to order. A resolution by J. S. Dougherty of Texas for the appoint nent of a committee of one from each State to devise a plan for impressing THE SAFE DEPOSIT BOXES OF THE State Loan and Trust Company are inclosed in a fire-proof and burglar-proof vault, which is ample in size and triliantly lighted by electricity; alcoves attached for the private examination of valuables, with writing materials; uyoung lady in attendance.

The resolution was reerred to the Committee on Resolutions, after discussion. Ex-Senator Hill of after discussion. Ex-Senator Hill of Colorado addressed the convention on the silver question, his arguments being chiefly based on statistics tending to show that the adoption of a gold standard in any country had been invariably followed by decades of poverty and depression.

HIS IDEA. He said that the divergence between He said that the divergence between the value of gold and silver is now greater than when the United States commission made its famous report, and no boundary can be set to the divergence that may be reached nereafter; especially if the foremost silver producing country in the world shall lend itself to the attempt being made to establish a universal gold standard. The scarcity of gold had nothing to do with the present depression. The amount of money now locked up and hidden away is more than double the amount of gold now in the country. country.

Sherman act, thus bringing on a great fall in the price of the metal, we could force Europe into a bimetallic treaty was a delusion.

"If we are driven by a conspiracy," "If we are driven by a conspiracy," he said, "to revert to a single standard, we should by all means use silver. If we restore silver to its old place as a money metal by unlimited coinage, and if, under the force of circumstances over which we have no control, our gold should be drained away, we will still maintain the first position among gold should be drained away, we will still maintain the first position among the nations of the world and compel England, Germany and France at once to adopt a bimetallist standard."

In conclusion, he declared that if Western Europe perseveres in measures which raise the value of gold so it shall flow from the United States and we become a sliver country.

Speeches, Resolutions and Appointment of Committees. CAICAGO, Aug. 2.—(By the Associ-ated Press-) The first speaker of the afternoon session was J. B. Half a million of them are advo cates of free and nulimited coinage of

There was tremendous applause when Gov. Waite of Colorado was introduced.
A number of enthusiastic delegates had been howling for him for two days, and he was unable to begin his speech for

WAITE'S SPEECE.

Gov. Waite spoke at great length. He asserted that, since 1878, no Congress has convened but that a majority gress has convened but that a majority in both houses were in favor of restoring the free coinage of silver. Congress has never been able to enact such a law, because the President, whether a Republican or a Democrat, has always been dominated by Wall street and stood ready to interpose his veto, equal to a two-thirds wote in both houses of Congress.

to a two-thirds wote in both houses of Congress.

The effect of the gold-bug conspiracy, which has denied free coinage to silver since 1878, has been to increase the purchasing power of money, or, to put the statement in another form, to decrease the value of all commodities. Abraham Lincoln said "if a debt is granted with a certain amount of more is granted with a certain amount of more is granted with a certain amount of more in the control of the certain amount of more in the control of the certain amount of more in the control of the certain amount of more in the certain amount of th created with a certain amount of mone

Abraham Lincoln said "If a debt is created with a certain amount of money in circulation and then the government contracts the money volume before the debt is paid, it is the most heinous crime which the government can commit against the people," and that, Gov. Waite said, was exactly what this government had been doing since 1878.

Congressional legislation, and nothing else, has reduced the price of silver bullion from $1.82 per ounce in 1873 to 70 cents in 1893, and legislation, for which the two old parties are equally responsible, has reduced the price of wheat in the same time from $1.41 per bushel to 53 cents. The same legislation has reduced the price of cotton from 19 3-10 cents to 78-10 cents in the same time. The ratio of value of silver as bullion, compared with the gold dollar, has been increased from 16 to 1 to 22%, or 24 to 1. Legislation has not only diminished the value of silver bullion, but has also diminished, in the same proportion, the value of wheat, corn, pork, beef, cotton, and the wages of labor.

PALSE PROPOSALS. "We hear," he said, "much about over-production, the law of supply and demand, etc., but with the single standard gold men of Europe who have the reins in their own hands, there is not the same necessity to lie about it, and no such disposes attempt to deduce and no such dishonest attempt to dodge and no such dishonest attempt to dodge the issue." Waite then quoted from a speech by Balfour at Manchester, in which the latter is quoted as saying: "The gold monetary standard in fifteen or sixteen years has gone up no less than 30 to 35 percent, and as to its further rise in value no man can set a limit."

further rise in value no man can set a limit."

"Not long ago," said Waite, "Gladstone was told by Mr. Thompson, in the British Parliament, that the gold standard was crushing out the agricultural and commercial industries of England by compelling business upon a falling market; that the debtor class was being reduced to industrial slavery and that the taxes of India, while nominally the same, forced from India double the amount of her products, which a few years ago paid the tax. Gladstone unbiushingly declared that England, as a creditor nation, could stand any amount of appreciation in the value of credits, and added that governments were not concerned about governments were not concerned about philanthropy."

Considering the condition of the masses in England and India, Walte said this was the most brutal remark stance Cain, with the blood of his murdered brother crying from the ground, insolerity asks the Almighty "Am I my insolently asks the Almighty "Am I my brother's keeper!" Waite denied that in the broad sense silver is a local ques tion, and said he could prove from offi-cial statistics that the loss to the agri-cultural States from the scarcity of cial statistics that the loss to the agri-cultural States from the scarcity of money, in good part occasioned by the refusal of free coinage in each State in the great Mississippi Valley, is from ten to twenty times the loss sustained by Colorado. The proposal by the false friends of silver, and their allies in friends of silver, and their allies in Wall street, to adopt the present price of bullion silver, as compared with gold, as the new money ratio, would simply crystallize all wrongs and injuries which the money power has inflicted upon the people for the past twenty years. This, as a compromise, beats the one which the devil proposed to Jesus Christ on the mountain.

Waite said that an international conference for the purpose of settling our money affairs by the dictation of a foreign money power, is the most contemptible and God-forsaken idea that ever entered the brain of an American citizen. "If we have become, under the rule of the two old parties," he said, "only a province of European monarchies, then we need another rev-olution, another appeal to arms and to the God of Hosts." This evoked great applause.

In closing the Governor said: "Who is Grover Cleveland, and who is Benjais Grover Cleveland, and who is Benjamin Harrison, and who are their supporters in Wall street and Chicago, that they dare to drive into poverty and exile half a million American freemen? There is no use of crying peace when there is no peace. The most dangerous tyranny is that enforced under the forms of law. Our weapons are

Silver men were called lunatics and cranks, but they were proposing merely to return to a system hallowed by the history of four thousand years. Recess was here taken until 2 p.m. tives from the South and West. Con-stituting an overwhelming majority of Democrats on the floor of Congress, they have, every time that free silver has been presented, cast their votes in the interest of the people everwhelm-ingly for free silver. "What will Cleveland do?"
"Cleveland does not represent the Democratic party," quickly retorted Pierce, and then the convention broke loose. Men jumped to their feet and cheered, while a hundred voices yelled "That is so; he represents Wall street." "I say today, as a Democrat," resumed Pierce, "that Grover Cleveland, a man from the East who claims to represent the Democratic party, does not represent it, but misrepresents its position on this question."

Pierce added that Cleveland was nominated because the people throughout the South thought he was the man to protect them against the Force Bill. They also believed that he was an honest man and would not attempt to go against the interests or will of his party upon any question. That the leaders were mistaken, Cleveland's actions today show. (Applause and hisses.) About this time a Populist from Georgia asked Pierce how Crisp stood. He replied that Crisp had stood for twelve years by the people on every vote to support free colnage, and he (Pierce) could not believe that he would play the Judas now.

and he (Pierce) could not believe that he would play the Judas now. "How about Carlisle?" yelled an-other delegate. "If Carlisle favors the unconditional repeal of the Sherman act," replied Pierce, "he has gone back on his record and on, sail the people he has rep-resented in Congress for years."

A REMONSTRANCE. Chairman Thurman, who yesterday expressed in his speech the greatest personal regard for President Clevepersonal regard for President Cleve-land, criticised Pierce for drifting Into partisan discussion. He was almost afraid, he said, to call on another speaker for fear some one would think it necessary to get up and defend the Prohibition party. "We are not here," he said, "as partisans in any way, and I hope we will have no more partisan-ship." Judge Goodwin of Salt Lake made a speech of some length. The West, he

Judge Goodwin of Salt Lake made a speech of some length. The West, he said, was prostrate. Property had been destroyed over one-third of the area of the republic, but the Western men did not come asking favors. They asked merely for the recognition of something which represented labor immortalized, and which had served as a perfect measure of value through the ebb and flow of 4000 years. They felt that they were asking for as much more for the East than the West, as the products of the East exceeded the value of those of the West. He besought every one present to become a missionary in the cause, to work with the people, to appeal to Congressmen and to appeal to the President for justice to silver.

The report of the Committee on Resolutions was then read.

THE RESOLUTIONS. The Committee on Resolutions this afternoon submitted a long report.

afternoon submitted a long report. The preamble recites that bimetallism is as ancient as human history. For certainly more than three thousand years gold and silver came down through the ages hand in hand, their relations having varied but a few points in all that time; then, almost invariably, through legislation; that both metals are named together in the Constitution of the United States as the money basis of this country; that, in 1873, without the previous demand of any political party or any part of the people, and without public discussion, silver was stricken from the place it silver was stricken from the place it occupied since the days of Abraham and Pharaoh, under circumstances of such secrecy that A. G. Thurman, W. M. Stewart, D. W. Voorhees, J. G. Blaine, then Speaker of the House; J. A. Garfield and other members of Congress who voted for the bill publicly declared that they did not know until long afterward that so great a change had been made in the financial system. silver was stricken from the place it

SECRET WORK. The resolutions further state that the debates in Congress show that the measure was partly ascribed to on the limbilities of the firm being given at Ernest Seyd, a London banker, who, it The resolutions further state that the the moneyed classes of the Old World the moneyed classes of the Old World to secure its passage by secret and corrupt means; that President Grant, who signed the bill, declared long subsequently that he did not know it demonetized silver; that the object of the attack on silver was to double the purchasing power of gold, thus reducing the price of all commodities, arresting enterprise, impoverishing the toiler and degrading mankind; that the awful consequences of this act are now upon the whole world.

The people stand in the midst of un-paralleled distress, in the shadow of impending calamities, beyond estimate. The ruling industry of the people who inhabit one-third of the area of this reinhabit one-third of the area of this republic has been stricken down; property values destroyed and workmen compelled to fly as from a pestilence. Honest toilers, numbering hundreds of thousands, have been thrown out of employment to eat the bread of charity or starve. The products of the industries, of the farms and workshops have depreclated in price until production ceases to be profitable. The money of the country, inadequate for the business of the land, has gravitated to the banks, while the people, distrusting the banks, demand their deposits, to hoard or to hide.

Mercantile houses are going to the wall by the thousands, because the masses have not the means to buy even the necessities of life. The movement of the great crops now being gathered demands a vast amount of currency, which the banks are unable to furnish. PRESENT DEMANDS.

In the midst of these conditions, the daily press is clamoring for the repeal of the Sherman act, although repeal of the Sherman act, although repeal means the stoppage of more than $3,000,000 in meney every month, ignoring the fact that, to hold the balance level between the debtor and creditor factions, the supply of currency must increase with an increased population and increased business. The growth of population has been 33 per cent. every ten years; the increase of business much greater.

The preamble then quotes at length from the utterances of James G. Blaine, Daniel Webster and Secretary Carlisle in favor of bimetallic currency, and from Hon. John Sherman on the dangers of monetary contraction. The resolution of the second seco of monetary contraction. The tions then state that there must compromise of this question. All legis-

CHICAGO, Aug. 2.—(By the Associated Press.) It looked as if yesterday's thunder-claps had cleared the atmos-phere of the Board of Trade at the thunder-claps had cleared the atmosphere of the Board of Trade at the opening of this morning's session. September wheat started 2% higher, at 60, with some sales at 60½, but later it sold off at 59%. September porks opened unchanged at $12, but weakened off to medals and the first prize in Class B for lower photographs.

The buoyancy, however, was short lived. Soon after opening, the failure of D. Eggleston & Son, a widely-known firm engaged in carrying lard and pork for the Cudahy-Wright clique, was announced. This was accompanied by the failure of George G. Parker & Co., the well-known commission firm. Then came the suspension of Thomas Greig a fairly prominent trader. All three had been rather expected. All of these firms were more or less closely con

As the day wore on the report be-came current that P. D. Armour, the packer, had provided for the cash wheat that Eggleston was carrying. The Eggleston trouble, it was asserted, grew out of the hog product, not out of grain, and the consequence was a tendency to make wheat firm. Large seaboard clearances were also a bulling seaboard crearances were also a bulling factor. Before noon liquidation seemed-completed, and all pits were compara-tively quiet and steady. They are making every effort to stop the leaks and create new attractions. President Higinbotham said today that it is impossible to give the exact figures concerning the indebtedness yet. The bank, it says, was hopelessly wrecked. Millions of dollars were poured out into all sorts of Utopian pure the says of the chemes, and the most questionable schemes, and the most questionable methods were resorted to by the management to cover their operations. It is doubtful if the bank will liquidate with 25 cents on the dollar. The assets are largely worthless, and, in many instances, absolutely fictitious. The Californian Illustrated Magazine absorbed nearly $200,000 of the bank's money,

The overdrafts amount to nearly $900, 000, for which it is thought 25 per cent would be a high price. Atty-Gen Hart, besides five notes for an aggregate of $20,400, had an overdraft of $8600. The great wonder is that it did not fail long ago. It would have been a blessing to the city if it had collapsed when it had used its resources, instead of continuing in its course of recklessness, and using up funds with which it had been entrusted."

Prof. Alexander to Assist Minister Thurston Ex-Premier Parker Reaches the End of His Credit-The Leper Chief

The Royalists, who presented a cane to Claus Spreckels just before the steamer Australia salled, have deeply offended Minister Blount by the unauthorized use of his name, and the matter has become the subject of diplomatic correspondence.

Just before the Australia left this port a pregrammed scheme of presentence of the Associated Press via San port a prearranged scheme of present-ing Claus Spreckels with a cane inscribed with a list of names, headed by those of Lilluokalani and James H. Within half an hour after the news became public Minister Blount denounced the matter in an excited manner as an outrage, and authorized a local reporter to publish his statement. During the afternoon President Dole, who witnessed the presentation from the wharf, called on Minister Blount in an unofficial capacity, and spent an hour talking over the matter. On July 20 Minister Blount sent the provisional government a note calling their attention to the matter, and the government at once began an investigation as to the persons responsible. Charles Creighton, who made the presentation speech, was officially written to, and at 3 p.m. today left his reply at the Foreign Office. At 4.p.m. President Dole returned to the office and read the letter. It contained an attempted explanation of the use of Blount's name, and expressed the regret of the four Royalists who participated that offense had been given. President Dole at once called a Cabinet meting to consider the matter. The letter written to Creighton demanded a full explanation and an apology for the use of Blount's name. The provisional government is fully in earnest in sifting the matter, and, it is understood, will not stop short of full reparation to the American Minister. The Cabinet refused to accept the apology sent by the Royalists, through Creighton, and the letter was returned to him this evening. The government will gecide on its course of action after consulting with Minister Blount tomorrow.

When Reagan moved the adoption of When Reagan moved the adoption of the platform, there was a loud protest from Carl Browne from California, who objected to the second clause, wherein he alleged that the committee declared gold and silver to be the basis of all money. Secretary W. D. Ball of the Y.M.C.A.

Secretary W. D. Ball of the Y.M.C.A. returned yesterday from a vacation of several weeks, during which he made an extended Eastern trip. He is as brown as a berry, and says he is in the best of health.

attended the National Convention of Y.M.C.A. Secretaries at Louisville, Ky., and from there went to the National Y.M.C.A. Convention at Indianapolis. From Indianapolis he went to the World's Fair. The visit to this place was in May, when many of the exhibits were in an uncompleted state, but Mr. Ball was much impressed with the immensity of the buildings. From Chicago the trip was continued to Washington, and by way of New York to Utica, N. Y., which city is Mr. Ball's former home.

After a few days' stop here, the Y.P. S.C.E. National Convention at Montreal was visited. The gathering was an enthusiastic one, and the reports sent out concerning certain unpleasant incidents connected with it were much exaggerated. According to the telegraphic accounts, it will be remembered that there were several hostile demonstrations by some of the citizens, in one of which stones were hurled at the delegates.

Mr. Ball says that in one case a man was hit by a stone so that his eyeglass was broken, and that, in one or two Uncle Sam is today like a sick patient. around whose bed stand a group of doc-tors, each of whom looks wise, feels his pulse and prescribes a different remedy ceas for the financial malady, war ranted to cure. A few days ago the self-styled "Monarch of the Dailies" solicited the views of California country editors on the subject, and printed 'em to the extent of over a page. Now, the average country editor is a good judge of the purchasing power of silver, as contradistinguished from the filling power of pumpkins and potatoes, when exchanged for a year's subscription, but what he does not know about the relation between gold and silver would fill a large book.

Hence, we are, unfortunately, still in the dark.

It is taken for granted, by most these writers, that California is a "silver State." Is this so?

Her whole history-whether wisely or anwisely-is strongly in the opposite direction. She refused, for years, to accept United States currency, except a ruinous discount, and thereby, without doubt, committed a serious mis-take. But she is not now, and never has been, a "silver State," and the free coinage of silver will not solve the existing financial problem for her, or for the country, unless every silver dollar so coined be made by the government worth one hundred cents in gold.

Since prescriptions are the order of the day, let The Times present the follution to the effect that the govern-ernment will PROTECT ALL of its is sues of money, whether of gold or silver coin, silver notes and other paper money, and even fractional currency or subsidiary coinage, by paying dollar for dollar IN GOLD COIN, upon presenta-tion of the same by any holder at the treasury or any sub-treasury amounts exceeding $10.

The effect of these measures would be to restore confidence throughout the country. If the State must have a political Insurance Commissioner, would it not be well to have another which would be more than the cost of putting upon the money markets of the world $300,000,000 in gold bonds at 3 per cent. That these bonds would be taken with avidity by foreign purchasers, and also by American investors there can be no doubt. Gold now in concealment in private hands and in banks would flow would soon be filled with the necessary gold reserve. Holders of silver notes and of silver-bearing certificates would be only too glad to surrender their fluctuating holdings for gold coin or gold notes, dollar for dollar; while as to silver coin used in the business of the silver coin used in the business of the country, being then raised to par, its against these men. Another atrocious misuse of power by the Pension Office has come to light. Hiram Weeks of Minneapolis served four years in the Union army, participated in forty-three battles-Gettys burg being one of them-and now de-clared to be "dying of gangrene of the foot, the result of wounds received in the service," has had his pension of $6 per month discontinued, without any examination, or the assigning of any reason. The fact of the matter is, or at least such is my opinion, that there is more money in California today than there has been for years. People Who Knew Her in Iowa.

A Decided Difference of Opinion Seems to Exist

Some Declare That Her Sickness Was Feigned,

While Others Insist That It Was Genuine The Main Points at Issue as Yet
Not Decided—Conflicting Testimony.

There is a large Iowa contingent resident in Los Angeles, halling from the city of Belle Plaine, all of whom have known Mrs. Ada U. Walton, formerly Daniels, previous to her re-moval to Dakota and California. Nearly all of these former lowans were yester-day given the opportunity to contribute their testimony as to the reputation and physical health, at the time of Uneir acquaintance with her, of the woman who claims restoration through divine favor divine favor.

The weight of evidence of many of these people is strong against divine interposition, although only as it has been claimed in her case; and yet it must be asserted that the vital points in the so-called "healing" seem to re main untouched.

The effort has been made to prove main untouched.

The effort has been made to prove that Mrs. Walton, then Daniels, while a resident of Lowa, and later, while a resident of Coronado Beach, was whimsteal, fond of notoriety, apt to be deluded with new beliefs, and was looked upon as unreliable. The truth of each and every one of these charges may be conceded, and yet the foundation of the great change which she claims to have experienced has not been shaken.

The lowa representatives, who, at various times during the past few years, have left Belle Plaine and settled in Los Angeles, are widely scattered. One family was found in a country cottage a long distance away, across Brooklyn Heights. The man is a ranchman. An elderly couple have a neat home on Boyle Heights. A business man, who has his office on Spring street, lives well out toward Pico Heights, where his family was seen, "There is a lovely home on Figueroge street, where old times were being discussed yesterday, and where a reporter was fortunate in finding still other Belle Plaine residents, who were guests for the day. Here acquaintances were met who had known Mrs. Walton before she contracted either marriage. A prominent business man of Broadway has known her and her former husband for twenty years. There are numerous others, whose offices and residences are scattered throughout the city, who have a distinct remembrance of the ex-hardware merchant and harness-maker of Belle Plaine and his family."

Mrs. Walton has said that her previ-Mrs. Watton has said that her previous demestic history is a private affair, to which the public has no right. In a measure, this is true. The burden of testimony seems to be that she is of a hysterical type. orders. The burden of testimony seems to be that she is of a hysterical type, subject to peculiar, moods and sudden changes. Some expression belief that much of her illness for years has been feigned. Others regard it as real, and that she has been a great sufferer. One former neighbor admitted frankly: "I do not hold that the Lord cannot heal now, as centuries ago. I believe that He can. But I don't believe He would do it for Mrs. Walton." This woman has a son, an "exemplary young man." the mothers says, and he has rheumatism. "Now. If the Lord wanted to heal," she asks, "why don't He heal my son instead of her?" It is a question that is impossible to answer. It must be borne in mind that none of those who are denouncing the present case of alleged divine healing as a fraudulent one, have seen Mrs. Walton or known anything of her physical condition since coming to California. The or known anything of her physical condition since coming to California. The only exceptions are the two who have known her on Coronado Beach. And Mrs. Walton has persistently and emphatically claimed from the first change in her condition that her healing was not more instantaneous than complete; that she was healed physically, mentally and spiritually. Foul Weather, Jack Byron are all good names to catch the eve in a page of naval history. Cloudesty Shovel is a mouthful of quality and sounding syllables. Benbow has a bull dog quality that suits the man's character, and it takes us back to those English archies who were his true comrades for plainness, tenacity and pluck. Raleigh is spirited and marked and signifies an air of bold conduct in the field. It is impossible to judge of Blake or Nelson, no names current among men being worthy of such heroes. But still it is odd enough, and very appropriate in this connection, that the facter was greatly taken with his Sichlan title. "The signification perhams pleased him," says Southey: "Duke of Thunder was what in Dahomet' would have been called a strong name. It was to no man could it be more applicable." Admiral in itself is one of the most satisfactory distinctions; it has a noble sound and a very prond history, and Columbus thought so highly of it that he enjoined his heirs to sign themselves by that title as iong as the house should last.

Female Pirates.

(St. Louis Globe-Democrat:) Two of the most extraordinary of the pirates who formerly scourged the waters of the West Indies were women. One of them was Mary Read. She was a native of England, and had been dressed as a boy from childhood for the purpose of hiding a family secret. At one time she served on a British war vessel, where her sex was not suspected. Finally she took passage on a vessel bound for China, which was captured by a pirate. Having nothing better to do she adopted the piratical trade. One of her cut-throat shipmates was Anne Bonny, also disguised as a man. Anne, not imagining that Mary was a female, fell in love with her, revealing her own sex. Mary was thus obliged to make a similar revelation. These two extraordinary persons took their part with the men in every conflict. While fighting bravely their ship was at length taken by a war vessel. They were tried for their lives at Jamaics, where Mary died in prison. It is not certain what became of Anne, but she was not executed.

THE METHODISTS.

At the quarterly session of the Los Angeles Methodist district conference, held in the Methodist Church in Santa Monica last June, a very liberal proposition was made to the conference or the part of the Santa Fe Railroad, touching a project looking toward the erection of buildings, etc., in Santa Monica, for the exclusive use of the Methodists in Southern California. A committee was appointed by the con ference to look into the matter and re ference to look into the matter and report at an adjourned meeting, to be held in Los Angeles on August 8.

This committee, through Rev. Dr. Stevenson, has completed its report and shows that the above railroad company have offered to donate five acres or land near their depot in Santa Monica and build thereon a pavilion capable of seating $500 people. They have offered to pipe water on the land have offered to pipe water on the land have offered to pipe water on the lan and build sidewalks, and also build and build sidewalks, and also build a number of cottages for renting pur-poses. They will, besides, give ground rent free to any one desiring to erect a tent or cottage upon it. In return for their liberality the railroad people ask that the conference rent the cottage only for residence purposes and also that the district conference be held at the pavilion as well as next summer amp-meeting.

It is expected that the conference its coming session will accept the proposition, and, if so, the work of construction, owing to the lateness of the season, will be delayed until next year.

Noticeable Increase in the Attendance Interesting Papers Read Before the Body-Today's Programme

Yesterday was the second day of the summer school of the Presbyterian Alli-ance, which is holding its interesting sessions in the First Presbyterian Church of Pasadena. The attendance was noticeably larger than on the opening day, and all the papers read pos-

Rev. H. B. Gage of Riverside was introduced as the first speaker. The sub-ject of his paper was "Why Not Immer-sion?" Mr. Gage stated at the outset that haptism by immersion was dission?" Mr. Gage stated at the outset that baptism by immersion must die. He was present only to discuss the proper mode of administering baptism, and in the course of an able and interesting argument that lasted for an hour he presented a strong array of facts in favor of sprinkling, as opposed to immersion. Some time was devoted to a discussion of the Greek derivation of the word "baptism," as a result of which it is evident that its meaning is not restricted to immersion. Various scriptural instances were cited where baptimal instances were cited where bapstricted to immersion. Various scrip tural instances were cited where bay tism was administered by other means than immersion. Indeed it was claimed that all scripture teaches that immer-sion is not the Christian mode of ad-ministering this sacred rite. The speaker thought that the very argu-ments used by the Baptists and other believers in immersion to prove their side of the case are anything but con-clusive. Considerable stress was laid on the preparation that is necessary in this modern age for baptizing a candi-date by immersion. Then it pointed out-how in apostolic days this ceremony was performed at any time and place without preparation, from which it was inferred that immersion could not have been the method employed. Among Mr. Gage's most attentive listeners were Rev. Mr. Harris of the Baptist Church and Rev. Mr. Garvin of the Christian Church.

The other paper of the afternoon was read by Judge J. W. McKinley of Los Angeles, on the subject, "What Qualifi-Angeles, on the subject, "What Qualifications for Suffrage May the State Require of Its Citizens!" The address was in the nature of a review of the laws on the elective franchise, as they exist in the different States. The distinction between natural and political rights was clearly drawn. While governments are established to preserve such rights to each individual they must, in turn, demand the surrender of must, in turn, demand the surrender of certain rights and liberties of the indi-vidual for the common good. Refer-ring to our naturalization laws, the speaker favored the application of more stringent methods to debar from itizenship the undesirable class of for eigners. The address was instructive, and held the close attention of all present. After a general discussion of the

The Los Angeles Packing-house is All Right.

John Cudahy Not Interested in the Loca ablishment-An Interview With Mr. Maurice, the Manager in Los Angeles.

The failure of John Cudahy, the pork packer, in Chicago Monday will have o effect upon the Los Angeles packing house, for the reason that John Cudah; has nothing to do with the firm owning the Los Angeles establishment. The head of the latter concern is Michael Cudaby, and it was Michael who re-cently visited Los Angeles and started going the enterprise which has since been realized. There are four Cudahys who are large pork packers and grait operators, and they are all brothers They are not united in their interests however, for John and Patrick are to gether, and Michael and Edward A. are together as separate con cerns. John and Patrick have large packing concerns at Milwaukee, Louisville and Cincinnati, while the interests of Michael and his brother Edward are at Omaha, Kansas City and now at Los Angeles. John Cudaby has long been famous as one of the most extensive operators in food products in the United States; he is both a "bull" and a "bear," "long" in some things and "short" in others, so there is no certainty upon which side of the cerns. John and Patrick have large market in any given commodity he may be found; in pork products, however, his packing interests usually place him on the "bull" side, and it was as a "bull" operator that he was caught in the source of Monday.

"bull" operator that he was caught in the squeeze of Monday.

A fact which is also well known is that John Cudahy was largely interested in the Mutual Bank of Milwaukee, which recently failed, and it is believed that large sums of his money are tied up at present in that institution, so that he was unable to control them in his operations, and this is taken as one of the important causes of his failure.

"Of one thing I am very sure." reimportant causes of his failure. one thing I am very sure," remarked a gentleman yesterday, who knows John Cudahy very well, "and that is that Cudahy has not failed with no money. He has got a snug sum somewhere, and we shall hear from him again."

A reporter of The Times visited the packing works yesterday afternoon and interriewed Mr. Maurice, who is in charge there. The gentleman reiterated the above concerning the difference between the firms of Michael and John Cudahy, declaring the only effect the Los Angeles packing-house would feel from the failure would be a slight lowering in the price of park.

There were three carloads of these hogs that were then being unloaded, and they had reached here yesterday from Fresno.

"Where do you get the most of your hogs from?" was asked.

"From the counties north of us," was the reply. "They are sent here from way up in Kings county; they are good hogs, too. We sent men out around the samples county, trying to stir up hogs, too. We sent men out around Los Angeles county, trying to stir up hogs, but they didn't stir very lively. Farmers about here seem to have an exorbitant idea of what hogs are worth; they want 8 and 10 cents a pound for them, and won't sell them for less. We think 6 cents is a good price for hogs on the hoof. A man came here vesteron the hoof. A man came here yester-day to sell his hogs, and said that when day to sell his hogs, and said that when we gave 8 cents per pound we could have his hogs, that he could sell them to the Chinamen and get that much. I never heard what the Chinamen did with them, as very few of them are butchers. We do not expect this sort of thing to continue, however, and we soon expect to get a

There are people going into hog-raising on a large scale, and because we are here, so I expect that next year we shall draw heavily on this county, from which at present we are getting very few hogs."

"What are you doing with your meat!" MF. Maurice was asked.

"We are not packing it, certain."

We give them that long to freshen up after their ride, and get the fever out of them. Mr. Maurice closed by saying: Mr. Maurice closed by saying:
"Taking all things together, the company has done almost as well as could be expected, considering that they have got to build up the hog-raising industry about them. The conditions are all favorable to a large annual growth of hogs. All the people have needed is an incentive, a market close at hand. The Board of Equalization was in ses-

He stated that he never had a private bank account in his life and that he did all his business through the firm of which he was a member. The firm owed him on March 1 between $40,000 and $50,-000. If the firm were today to pay its

In answer to this Mr. Newmark said that the firm could borrow the funds at 6 per cent. and could make about 8 per cent on them. If nothing could be gained by borrowing the money of course the firm would not borrow it.

The matter was taken under advisement till August 12.

It is the intention of the receiver, after the vaults are removed, to sell the remaining fixtures, if possible. Whether this is done or not, the bank will be moved from its present quarters at the end of the month, and affairs thereafter conducted on a more economical basis.

The decision of Judge Shaw yesterday in the preferred claims cases has given hopes that a general dividend of 10 per cent, will soon be declared. The county's funds, which were on special deposit, is the only thing which stands in the way. Many think that Judge Shaw's decision covers the county funds, and that all the money in the receiver's possession, whether on special deposit or otherwise, will be divided pro ratu among all the depositors. In view of a recent decision by Judge Rossin a similar San Diego bank case, it seems, however, that county funds are to be considered as trust funds, and, whether mingled with the general money of the bank or kept separate, must be paid out in full before the accounts of the general depositors can be settled. It is, therefore, probable that it will be several weeks before the first dividend of 10 per cent. Is paid out.

SOMETHING IN THE EYE.

Methods by Which Porcign Particles Can Be Gotten Rid Of.

Methods by Which Foreign Particles Can Be Gotten Rid Of.

Never needlessly expose the eyes to foreign particles, but when necessary wear plain glasses or goggles. When experimenting with chemicles always turn the mouth of the tube or bottle away from the face and eyes. Whenever an eye is injured severely, says the Hygienic Doctor, place the patient immediately in a dark room and under the care of a skilled physician, whose directions must be implicitly followed. The foreign bodies may be solids, as sand, cinders, hair, dirt, etc., lime, acids or alkalies. Don't rub the eyes, avoid sudden glares of light, never look directly at the sun.

To remove the solid particles from under the lids it is sufficient to pull the lid away from the eye and wipe the body with a piece of moist paper or the corner of a handkerchief; if it is under the upper lid, grasp the lid firmty between the thumb and finger, lift it from the eyeball and draw it down over the lower lid, and then allow it to slide slowly back to its natural position. The foreign body will be scraped off on the lashes. The operation may be repeated several times. Or lift the lid from the eyeball, allow the tears to accumulate beneath the lid and foreiby blow the nose. Or operation may be repeated several times. Or lift the lid from the eyeball, allow the tears to accumulate beneath the lid and forcibly blow the nose. Or place in the eye a few grains of flax-seed, which, forming a mucilage, will promptly bring relief. Or place across the upper lid the point of a pencil or bodkin and turn the lid back over it. In this way the foreign particle is brought into distinct view and can be readily wiped away.

MRS. WALTON'S CASE

(Court Record.) PETITIONS DENIED.

Koll and Shields's Claims Not Preferred.

No Prior Rights on Funds the City Bank.

Verdict of Acquittal in the Chinese Murder Case.

The Result of the Trial Rather in the Nutur a Surprise—The Farber Rape Case to Come Up Today— Court Notes.

Upon the petitions of Hermann Koll and A. M. Shields, who asked that their claims against the defunct City Bank be declared preferred claims and be paid in priority to the general creditors. Judge Shaw yesterday rendered an opinion deciding contrary to the requests of the petitioners. The claim in each case was that the money which it was alleged that the defunct bank received on behalf of the petitioners never became the property of the City Bank, but was held by it in trust and was mingled by it with other property, and in that condition had come into the hands of the receiver.

"As there will be other cases involv-

"As there will be other cases involving the same questions discussed in these," stated the court in the opinion. "I have given the matter very thorough consideration, although I have come to the conclusion that the evidence does not sustain the cases as claimed by the several petitioners. The best statement of the doctrine of equity upon the question involved is that of Judge Bradley in Frelinghysen vs. Nugent, which is quoted and approved by Judge Ross in County of San Diego vs. Bank, and is as follows:

"Fromerly, the equitable right of following misapplied money into the hands of the parties receiving it depended upon the ability of identifying it. This right was first extended to the proceeds of the property, namely, to that which was procured in place of it by exchange or sale; but if it became confused with other property of the same kind so as not to be distinguishable, without any fault on the part of the "possessor, the equity was lost. Finally, however, it has been held as the better doctrine that confusion does not destroy the equity entirely, but conthe better doctrine that confusion does not destroy the equity entirely, but converts it into a charge upon the entire mass, giving to the party injured by the unlawful diversion a priority of right over the other creditors of the pos-

"It will be seen from the above statement of the doctrine that, although the rule of equity has been largely extended in modern times, yet it still remains necessary that the fund or property, on account of which the lien or priority is claimed to exist, be traced into the estate upon which the charge is sought to be made. This is clearly shown in the case of Continental Bank vs. Weems, above cited, where a clear distinction is drawn between a trust fund, which was paid into the vaults of a bank, and, though indistinguishable, still remained there until the entire assets went into the hands of a receiver, and a case where such trust fund was specifically used to pay a debt of the bank, and never became a part of the assets. ment of the doctrine that, although the

'In the latter case, it was held that there was no priority, because, although the trust fund may have gone to benefit the estate in one sense, yet it did not contribute to swell the assets. None of the cases cited are contrary to this doctrine of fact (although some apparently are.) except the case of Francis vs. Evans, 38 N. W. Reporter, 93. In that case it was held that a trust estate used by a bank specifically in payment of its debts was still a charge upon the entire assets of the bank. This, however, I believe to be the only case to be found which declares this doctrine. In every other case which I have seen, the fact has appeared that the trust fund at some time entered into and became specifically a part of the general estate of the trustee, or became mingled with some particular partion of its estate. there was no priority, because, although became mingled with some paror became mingled with some particular portion of its estate.

"The facts in the case of the petitioner Koll come clearly within the doctrine laid down in Bank vs. Weems, above referred to. From the affidavits and testimony in the case, it appears that Koll, on June 17. left with the City Bank for collection, a draft on a bank in Omaha: that the City Bank bank in Omaha; that the City Bank on the same day forwarded the draft to the First National Bank of San Francisco with directions to credit the proceeds to the City Bank. The City Bank was at that time in debt to the First National Bank named on general account, and the First National Bank on the 19th of June credited the amount of said draft to the on the same day forwarded the credited the amount of said draft to the City Bank, and the same went to reduce the amount of said indebtedness. On June 20 the City Bank closed its doors, and on the 21st a receiver was appointed. It thus appears that the draft of the petitioner Koll never entered into or became any part of the assets which have gone into the hands of the receiver, but, on the contrary, it was used by the City Bank to pay a part of its debt to the First National Bank of San Francisco. It therefore follows that the petitioner can have no priority over other creditors on account of said draft.

San Francisco. It therefore follows that the petitioner can have no priority over other creditors on account of said draft.

"In regard to the petition of Shields, I am of the opinion from the evidence that before the bank closed its doors, the amount of the collection in deposit had been properly credited to the general account of said Shields subject to check, and that the relation of said bank to said Shields was not that of a trustee, but of a debtor.

"In regard to the claim of Neville, it appears that the check left by him with the bank for collection on June 3 was delivered with the understanding that it would not become subject to check, nor credited as a general deposit, until the said bank had made collection of the proceeds. The City Bank forwarded the check to the Hanover National Bank for collection, and the Hunover bank, on June 14, collected the same and informed the City Bank of the fact by mail. This information was received by the City Bank on June 19, and the amount was then credited to the account of Neville. It appears, also, that prior to the delivery of said check for collection, Neville was a customer of the bank, and had a sum of money there on deposit. From this it is clear that the proceeds of said check, when collected, became a general deposit in the hands of the bank, subject to check by the petitioner. The relation, therefore, between them was that of debtor and creditor, and not trustee and beneficiary, and hence there could be no charge upon general assets.

from custody on a writ of habeas corpus. Everett is the man who was accused of committing adultery with Mrs. Nellie Wagstaff, the young woman who deserted her husband at Murietta several weeks ago. Mrs. Wagstaff had been on intimate terms with the Everett family, and when she left the place Everett disappeared for a few days also. It was then learned that the two had registered at a hotel in Pomona, remaining there for nearly a week together, occupying the same apartments. Then Everett went back to his home at Murietta, and Mrs. Wagstaff departed in the opposite direction. Everett was shortly afterward arrested and examined on the charge of adultery, and committed by the justice of Pomona to await trial. The writ of habeas corpus was asked for on the ground that the commitment was made without probable cause. Judge Smith listened to arguments on both sides of the question, and then ordered that the matter be taken under advisement.

the case of Sullivan et al., respondents, vs Moorhead, appellant.

The plaintiffs and defendant entered into an agreement October 10, 1889, for the exchange of certain lands. The defendant agreed to convey certain property in Los Angeles, known as lots 10, 11, 12 and 13 in the Pomeroy & Mills's subdivision of the Hollenbeck tract together with the house three tracts. 10, 11, 12 and 13 in the Pomeroy & Mills's subdivision of the Hollenbeck tract, together with the houses'thereon, situate from Nos. 706 to 712 New Main street, inclusive. In February, 1890, the plaintiffs ascertained that through mistake or otherwise the deed of conveyance did not embrace all the land which the defendant had agreed to convey to them, and therefore began suit to compel a revision of the deed.

The case was tried without a jury and judgment rendered in plaintiffs' favor. A new trial was demanded, but denjed, and from this order and the judgment defendant appealed.

After reviewing the testimony the Supreme Court says: "The question of a mistake was the issue between the parties, and the court found upon the conflict of evidence before it that the instrument had been executed as the instrument had been executed as the result of such mistake." The judgment and order of the lower court were, therefore, aftermed.

FARBER'S TELAL. Yesterday was the time set for the trial of Henry J. Farber, the rape fiend, but the cause was not taken up for several reasons. The defendant was brought into court at 10 o'clock, at which time his counsel, W. H. Young, Esq., moved for a continuance on account of the absence of a material witness. In the afternoon the same motion was renewed on affidavit being offered which set forth that the absent witness was one Fuller, who was alleged to have slept with Farber in Riverside at the time trial of Henry J. Farber, the rape fiend, with Farber in Riverside at the time the assault on Miss Cummings was com-mitted. The court överruled the mo-tion, but allowed the case to go over until today owing to the lack of jurors, ODAY in earnest we begin a sale of Muslin Underwear that will be the largest in the history of this city. Nearly 5000 garments, comprising every garment of every kind in this house, will be placed on our counters and sold for one half the marked prices. Nightgowns, chemise, drawers, skirts, also blouse waists, children's mull caps and hats. Aprons for ladies, misses and children, and a full line of sun bonnets. Infants' complete wardrobes, infants' and children's dresses all piled high upon the counters. You may take your pick. You may have your choice at exactly one-half the marked price. Not a piece reserved, all—every article placed before you at half price. We have a two-fold object in view in making this offer. We will begin the fall trade with the most complete stock of new goods we have ever carried. We want to familiarize you with this department, and to do a big amount of favorable advertising, we will for the fall and winter push sales in the Underwear Department in the same manner we have pushed sales in cloaks, in corsets and in dress goods. The trade of this house is showing wonderful strides. We want the public to understand that we do not build up the trade of this house by underhanded methods. We take no other house's special line and cut the prices. This is a vicious and vindictive method that one house only in this city has got down to doing. We believe in legitimate merchandising. We believe in honorable dealings. We believe in just methods, and no house ever existed and held public confidence by underhanded and unbusiness like methods. We are exclusive agent for Royal Worcester Corsets. We handle these goods for profit and for business reasons. When another house takes hold of one or two lines and cuts the price, they do it with a malicious intent, and it will certainly jeopardize their standing in this community. It simply spurs us on to increased energy. We go for the muslin underwear trade, and we will more than treble the sales from now on. You can buy muslin underwear at half price until every garment now in stock is sold. There is a chance for you. When a house begins to lose sales and standing they are liable to begin underhanded work. Buy the Royal Worcester Corset. Attend our half price sale of muslin underwear. It begins in earnest today. A small lot of the half priced corsets and waists still left. They are going.

Steil's Attorneys File a Demurre Meeting of Fruit-growers-People Coming and Going-Batch of Brevities.

Wellborn & Hutton, attorneys for Pete Steil, on Wednesday filed a demurrer with Recorder Rossiter to the complaint brought against him for violating the local liquor ordinance. The grounds of the demurrer

First-That the complaint does not state facts sufficient to constitute a public of

"Second-That the complaint charges two offenses, in this, that it charges the de fendant with keeping a place where vinous and malt liquors are sold, and also a place where vinous and maft liquors are given

Third-That the complaint is uncertain "Third—That the complaint is uncertain in this: (a) That it cannot be clearly ascertained therefrom whether the defendant is charged with merely keeping a place where vinous and malt liquors are sold and given away, or whether he is charged with having sold or given away such liquors, and if so, what kind of liquors; (b) it cannot be ascertained from the said complaint to whom the liquors are alleged to have been sold or given away."

The demurrer will be argued before the Recorder next Monday.

Wednesday afternoon Justice Merriam sentenced Birdle Powers, who was convicted the previous day of running a disorderly house, to pay a fine of $50 or spend as many days in the County Jail. This (Thursday) morning, her companion, Maud Lowell, will be tried in the same court on the charge of disturbing the peace.

HE CAN GET ALL THE INFORMATION HE WANTS. The young man who each evening copies a few items of local interest for publication in the Herald next morning continues to throw mud at the City Council in general, and the City Attorney in particular because these gentlemen agreed to compromise a $10,000 mortgage suit against the city for $1000. The copyist, aided by that vivid imagination which has always characterized his efforts in the reportorial line, is assured that there is manigger in the woodpile," On Wednesday he gets some one down at the main office to put his thoughts into words, with the following his thoughts into words, with the following

"The mystery which is thrown around the business of the bank for agreeing to the settlement would be amusing were the subject not such a rerious one to our tax-payers, who have just jungled up $1000. By all means let us have all the light possible on the subject, if there is any reasonable explanation why the bank would compromise a $13,000 case for $1000 if they thought they could by any chance win it, let us have it, and the sooner the better." Now, in view of the very evident mental distress the alleged mysterv is causing the Herald man, and on account of his pathetically expressed appeal for light and lots of it, the eminently proper caper for him to eut is to ferret out the mystery himself, expose the guilty parties, if there be any, and thereby gain the everlasting gratitude of the multitude of dissatisfied taxpayers, whom he is all the time harping about. To accomplish such result he has only to call upon either Mayor Weed, City Attorney Arthur, or Councilmen McQuilling, Clarke, Lukens and Cox. Any or all of these gentlemen will tell him all he wants to know. They will fairly dazzle his eyes with light on the subject, and then if he sees fit to spread far and wide all the motives that prompted a reliable banking institution of Los Angeles to compromise a case on anything but favorable terms to itself rather than have the questionable business methods of a former official, now dead, made public in open court, he is at perfect liberty ods of a former official, now dead, made public in open court, he is at perfect liberty to do so. All desired information may be obtained for the asking, and the funny part of it is the Herald man has never asked for it, preferring rather to rush headlong into print with the idea furnished him by any disgrunted person whom he happens to meet on the street.

The orphanage of the new Dispensation Church in Calcutta could make nothing Church in Calcutta could make nothing of the ferocious foundling, who has con-sequently been removed to Bas Aram, a refuge founded and supported by Brahmo gentlemen in that city. The Historic Jordan.

The Historic Jordan.

But this is the stream about which the ancient Hebrews talked and dreamed. Here John baptized, and here the work of the greater teacher from Galilee was inaugurated. Involuntarily one idealizes all these scenes, but it really marks an advance toward truth and fact to bring them back into their true setting of turbid river and muddy, tangled bank. Christianity is real and its teachings are for a very prosaic matter-of-fact world. It is therefore most natural to find that its historical background was a world intensely real and matter-of-fact. The idealization rests rather upon a solid basis of actuality. While a visit to Palestine shatters many youthful dreams and relegates many famous pictures of the great masters to the remote dreams and relegates many ramous pic-tures of the great masters to the remote realms of the ideal, yet it takes Bible history and thought from the region of the clouds and gives them a definite habitat and thus makes them far more living and brings them into vital touch with the life of today.

"For Sale" Signs and What the Placards Mean.

Visitor-Lively Times in the Justice's Court at

In a drive around over Santa Ana a fer days ago the Times representative was rather surprised at the great number of real estate signs, "for sale," found on both lots and acreage property. To an Eastern visitor it would no doubt seem that all the property in town was for sale, and he very naturally then would ask himself the question. "Why do all these people want to sell their property if this is such as desirable place for a home?" To the Eastern visitor this line of thought is quite natural and yet is unjust to the community, for in California property changes hands so often and people therefore become imbued with such a spirit of business that almost anything they possess is for sale at some price. Of course, if a ery naturally then would ask himself the business that almost anything they possess is for sale at some price. Of course, if a sale is made, in almost every instance the money is put right back into another piece of property which the purchaser believes will make him a good per cent. on his investment. It is therefore a business proposition with him, and not that he wants to sell his property and leave the wants to sell his property and leave the country that the owner of a piece of property puts. or allows an agent to put, a sign at his front gate stating that that prop-erty is for sale cheap, call upon Mr. So-and-So for further information.

erty is for sale cheap, call upon Mr. So andSo for further information.

But the visitor does not understand all this, and is vary likely to believe that there is a "nigger in the woodpile" somewhere sure, and, as a result, he will consume a great deal of time perhaps in trying to ascertain why everybody has property to sell
The real estate agents of Pasadena, some months ago, for reasons largely obvious and even to themselves sufficient, signed an agreement not to put signs "For sale" on any lots, acreage, or houses or lots wishin the city, and to take down all signs by a certain date that they then had on any property. As a result of this agreement the city was soon rid of its legion of signboards, and the favorable impression the absence of the boards made on the minds of visitors was indeed highly satisfactory.
Many agents in Pasadena now claim that this course among them has vastly improved the real estate market, and put feelings of condence into investors.

If the real-estate men of Santa Ana could be prevailed upon to adopt a similar course how much more attractive the city could be made.

The great schooner Gov. Ames, rocking lazily at her moortings, was the social center of Redondo's population, local and otherwise, Monday evening. Capt. Davis was "at home," and his numerous guests were readily inducted into a similar feeling. J. H. Mullen was, by mutual consent, breveted captain of ceremonies, and very gracefully he chaperoned the impromptu musical programme, with which host and guests were regaled, its monotone of harmony being interspersed by recitations, comic and otherwise. Musical numbers were contributed by Mrs. H. C. Jackson, Mrs. M. V. and Miss Margaret Anderson, J. R. Chase and Will Glass of Redondo, and by Miss Graham, Mr. Dezendorf and others of the visitors, with choruses by the entire company. A canvas canopy was spread over the deck amidships, and here, with organ and guitar accompaniments, the musical and recital features occupied attention. At the conclusion of the programme, guests to the full capacity of the cabin and officers' quarters accepted Capt. Davis's invitation and partock of retreshments, consisting of sandwiches, cake and lemonade. Conventionality here decreed adieux. but the moon was up, the scene was inviting, and again the chairs went up on deck and the remnant of the company resumed musical recreations by the light of the moon, finally separating in time to avoid the imputation of keeping unseasonable hours.

The Gov. Ames's broken spar has been replaced. It will be a week or ten days yet before the last of her cargo of 2,000,000 feet of lumber is all on the wharf, by which time she will be in trim for another cruise. Meantime there are materializing plans for much social enjoyment upon her deck, an invited party hop being among the early probabilities.

Residents any wering inquiries are inclined to compare Redondo's present season unfavorably with those of the immediate pash, ascribing the reasons therefor to the World's Fair and other temporary causes: but facts scarcely justify disparagement of the present. The hotels and villas are enj

An Expensive Piece of Litization-Postponment of Improvemedts.

At an adjourned-ameeting held Saturevening, the Town Council instructed the City Attorney to file an answer in the suit brought against the town by the Santa Ana Water Company. The taking of evidence will probably be commenced this week. The cost to the city will be in the neighborhood of $2000. The expenditure of this amount of money, especially at this time; is to be regretted. The treasury of the city is not overstocked with the "white metal," and the withdrawal of $2000 will necessarily cause a postponment of some of the needed improvements-amil next year.

SECRET OF STRENGTH. ant Gives His Views About the Matter-

(New York Advertiser:) Strong man Sampson held a levee in the parlors of the Metropolitan Hotel one afternocut this week and regaled his auditors with stories and illustrations of his prowess, Steel chains and wires were easily broken by him by way of introducing himself, and then he performed several other of his well-known and more diffi-cult feats.

himself, and then he performed several other of his well-known and more difficult feats.

"These things amaze you," he said, "and yet you can duplicate everything I have done in a little time. All you have to do is to follow these rules which I now give you: Be regular in meal hours and eat good substantial food. I usually confine myself to eggs, meat and rye bread. Take a good deal of outdoor exercise, and sponge the body daily with cold water.

"Have a steel ring made three-eighths of an inch larger than the size of your arm, and make sure that it fits tightly. Place it around the upper part of your arm. This will prevent the blood from circulating as it should. Then raise your arm slightly; this will cause the rubbing of the upper muscle. Close your hand slightly, but with great strength, thus forcing the blood becomes accustomed to the exercise. Within two or three weeks you will perceive that the arm has grown too large for the ring. Then have a larger one made and continue the practice. Exercise longer each time, but before you place the ring in position rub it and your arm well with cold to prevent the skin from breaking. Finishing this, bathe the arm well with cold water to cool the muscle."

"If any person follows these simple instructions I will guarantee that inside of three months he will be able to hold out seventy-five pounds at arm's length with one hand. To strengthen the lungs, buckle a strap around the chest and take a deep inhalation of air. Soon you will feel the resistance of the strap; continue this for about ten minutes three times a day, and you will soon be capable of bursting the strap with ease by simply expanding your lungs. Don't use tobacco."

Infant Mortality in a Great City.
(Philadelphia Record:) The whole number of deaths in this city during the week ended at noon yesterday, July 22, was 687. Of this number 413 were 22, was 667. Of this number 413 were children under 5 years of age. There were reported 31 new cases of diphtheria, 43 of scarlet fever and 38 of typhoid fever. There were 13 deaths from diphtheria, 1 from scarlet fever and sk from typhoid fever. The continued mortality among children is frightful to think of. Out of the whole number of deaths nearly two-thirds were infants. A death rate of over-jour hundred children in one week is a reproach to Philadelphia that in some of its aspects approaches criminality. If the little army could be gathered together in one place, and the mandate prinounced that should sweep them into their graves in seven days, all behoalers would stand appalled. Yet it is alitygether probable that 400 babies now alive in Philadelphia will be dead before next Sunday's Record shall have been printed. Think of it.

Uncle's "Phenom" Was Simply Not in It.

The Climate Evidently Disagrees With Him.

The Angels Completely Outplay the Heavy Hitters.

Also Punished Rather Severely but Received Better Support Than McGreevy-A Good Catch by Spies-The Score.

Uncle Henry and his heavy hitters arrived yesterday from their recent vic-torious travels in the North, and were complately knocked out by the Angelle ball-tossers. Uncle brought his new "phenom." McGreevy, with him, and tried the boy on us in our own balli-wick. But this climate don't seem to agree with McGreevy, or, at least, it cemed so yesterday.

The new "phenom" was batted quite freely. Until the seventh inning, after that the boys got onto him, and pasted him all over the lot. In the three last innings they made nine hits off him, and could have made more had they needed them. George Borchers had all he could do also to keen the they needed them. George Borchers had all he could do, also, to keep the heavy hitters within reasonable bounds But the Angels backed him to perfec

But the Angels backed him to perfection, only one error being charged against them during the entire game. Prof. Faming again did the umpire act, and was frequently reprimanded by his overseers on the bleachers. The professor is improving on balls and strikes, and will probably soon be "up to snuft" on base decisions. At any rate, he is doing better day by day. The Angelic tribe started the game, and were gracefully retired. The nephews of their uncle filled two bases on balls, but three were put out, and the danger was over.

In the second, Glenalvin hit safely, but was put out at second. Lytle and Hulen wasked to first, after which Lohnian forced Hulen out at second. "Pete" then stole second, and while doing so, Lytle likewise did the burglarizing act from the first he hade.

In the third, the Angels again tallied.
Borchers flew out to Carroll, Wright was given base on balls, and McCauley was resurrected at first on Squire's was resurrected at first on equire's error. Hutchinson was sent on a walk, thus filling the bases. Glenalvin fouled out to Sples, but Lytle's hit scored Wright. McCauley was put out at home plate. Uncle then saw three of his men put out at first in succession. In the fourth and fifth McGreevy was at his best. He put six of the best Angels out without much, trouble.

was at his best. He put six of the best Angels out without much trouble. Uncle made no better progress, but had to work a great deal harder. In the sixth, Hutchinson got a life at first on Maguire's drop fly. Glenalyin sent a swift foul toward the entrance gate, which was magnificently handled by Spies, who rolled over in the dirt from the ball's impetus. Hutchingon gut to the home plate, but was on got to the home plate, but was fronted with the ball before he had confronted with the sale sale a chance to score.

Uncle made his first run in the sixth. Maguire hit for a base, Carroll did likewise, and Work would have done the same only the ball was handled too quickly—a circumstance which resulted in "double-playing" both work and Maguire out. Powers's hit handled too quickly—a circumstance which resulted in "double-playing" both Work and Maguire out. Powers's hit sent Carroll home, after which Ebright fouled out to Hughes.

In the seventh little Mr. McGreevy became somewhat rattled. He gave his opponents four hits, three of these after two men were out. Hughes flew out on a low fly to Maguire. Borchers hit safely and Wright sacrificed, McCauley's hit sent Borchers home, and Hulen's hit sent McCauley ditto. Glenalvin also hit safely, but died on base. Spies, McGreevy and Sharp then flew out in succession to Lytle.

In the eighth there were many opportunities to score, but good playing on both sides knöcked out any such hopes. Then McGreevy fell down completely, McCauley flew out to Levy. Hutchinson followed with a two-bagger. Glenalvin lanked one in left field, which was seriously misjudged by Rube Levy, Glenalvin landed on third and Hutchinson came home. Lytle flew out to right field, but Glenalvin had blenty of time to cross the plate. Then Hulen got to first on a silly error of Sharr's and Lomman's two-bagger scored the "Kid." Then Hughes singled and Lomman ame home. Borchers flew out to Levy.

acquaintances, some of them discovering that men who had fought in their company were on the ground. The meetings in these cases were long and full of reminiscences. No matter how much the old soldier had seen of battle and bloodshed, he always talked of the nights of jollity by the campfire, the foraging expeditions, when the pigs and roasting cars suffered, or of the time when he knew of no such discase as rheumatism, and slept for days on wet ground. They seemed to want to let the dark days fade from their minds.

This encampment has the distinction of having the oldest member of the W.R.C. in the United States camped on the ground, Mrs. Nancy C. A road building here from the East looks at California in building not as a California in building not as a California in the State of California is a california enterprise, but as a means of extending its trade from the East a little further west. It has no interest in the State, except what it can take to out in earnings secured from handling of California products. It is to the interest of transcontinental roads to curtail the business between California and the outside world by sea. To such an extent has this policy been followed that the roads became parties to the payment of large subsidies for this purpose, the object being to hold up rates by sea in order to force business over the rails from California at higher figures. The natural conditions are such that if business can be done from the seaboard of California, freights being transported in either direction by water, the roads must obtain much less for their haul. These things are susceptible of proof. This being my own opinion, I would naturally come to the conclusion that the best result for the State of California can only come through an enterprise put into motion by California and controlled directly in the interest of this State."

le Will Be Turned Over to the Collector San Francisco-Speculation as to John's Future Movements Regarding the Chinese Law

Wong Dip Ken, the Chinaman who was sentenced some time ago to imprisonment and deportation under the Geary law, but whose case was appealed, with the result that that part of his sentence relating to "hard labor at San Quentin" was declared unconstitutional, was vesterday taken north by United States Marshal Gard. The Chinaman's bondsmen were accordingly released from all further liability by Wong Dip Ken will be turned over to the Collector of the Port of San Fran-cisco, who will send him back to China on the first available steamer unless writ of habeas corpus is sued out before the Circuit Court of Appeals. It is bethe Circuit Court of Appeals. It is believed that the Six Companies—have kept track of the case all along and will make a last effort when Wong Dip Ken arrives at San Francisco. Should their efforts now fail Los Angeles will claim the distinction of having deported the first Chinaman under the Geary act.

Since the decision of Judge Ross that the "imprisonment at hard labor" clause in the law is unconstitutional much speculation has arisen as to what the future action of the Chinese will be.
It is contended that now, if a Chinaman desires to return to his native land, all desires to return to his native land, all desires to return to his native land, all he has to do is to be arrested under the Geary law and he will be deported free of all expense to himself. No more need he fear imprisonment or mutilation of his queue, or any other indignity, except possibly being placed in the steerage of the steamer on which he travels homeward. Unless very wealthy Lohn usually travels in no other wealthy. ne traveis homeward. Unless very wealthy John usually travels in no other way, so this can hardly be called an indignity. All in all, the wily heathen seems to have a little the longer end of the rope just now.
